The University
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION
THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE NAMED ASSOCIAtion are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street; lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.
The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade. It commands a Beautiful View of the Bay,
And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness. So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon.
The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,
Is President of the Association, Lester L. Robinson, formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas B. Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary.
Four lots, 25x120 feet each, constitute a share, costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made.
Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. L. PARRISH & CO.
It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent.

U. S. GRANT,
Will make Two Trips per Week to the
CITY OF ASTORIA!
Carrying Passengers at $10, the Round Trip,
(Meals Included.)
The Boat leaves Portland Wednesdays and Saturdays at 7½ A. M. Returning leaves Astoria Thursdays and Mondays at 6 o'clock A. M.
Every person purchasing a Passenger Ticket will be presented with one of 900 Prize Tickets, to be drawn on the 1ST DAY OF AUGUST, 1867, for the following Prizes:
Steamer U. S. GRANT, to be divided into 4 shares,
ONE BLOCK OF LOTS IN EAST PORTLAND, divided into 8 shares, or one lot to the share, viz: Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, Block 11, opposite the "New Columbian" Hotel, and at the terminus of the proposed Suspension Bridge.
ONE GOLD WATCH, worth $100;
150 CORDS DRY FIR WOOD, in 3 shares, to be placed on the Brooklyn Wharf.
The steamer is 54 tons burthen, 52 horse power engine, propeller wheel, draft of water 5 feet. She is being thoroughly refitted and refurnished as a Passenger Boat. The Boat will be delivered in perfect order, free from all incumbrance, and Warranty Deeds made for the real estate, to the persons drawing the same. Tickets can be had of C. P. FERRY, in Portland, where the money will be left on deposit till the prizes are drawn and delivered.
Any person having a claim against me, and wishing a ticket, can get an order for one by calling on me on board the boat. The person drawing the gold watch can have $100 in gold coin, if preferred.
C. P. FERRY, Broker, R. J. LADD, ex-Sheriff AL ZEIBER, U. S. Marshal, and C. S. SILVER, Merchant, of Portland, are the Committee and Judges to direct the Drawing of Prizes. The Prizes will be drawn before the 1st of August, if all the tickets are taken before that time.
The above liberal offer is made to the traveling public to enable the subscriber to pay his debts, and not with any reference to speculation, as all the property is valued at much less than its cost, (the Steamer alone having cost $11,000), and the price for carrying passengers to Astoria being much less than the usual fare.

PIONEER WASHER.
JAMES BRUSIE,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.
THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivaled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes with but slight labor, and lasting with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It is easily worked by one person.
This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to aid housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.
It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.
The undersigned is now in the city of Portland, where he can be seen at Mr. G. Kilbourn's Store, corner of Front and Yamhill Sts., East side Portland, and is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers and also to sell and dispose of County Rights for the sale of the same.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JUNE 4.

Registration in Virginia.

RICHMOND, June 3.—Gen. Schofield has issued an order instructing boards of registration relative to the disfranchising clause in accordance with Attorney General Stanberry's decision.

Republican Victory in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Republicans to-day carried the municipal election. 1,000 majority was given for the Councilmen. The negroes are jubilant over the result.

Intelligence from Mexico.

GALVESTON, June 3.—Queretaro letters say that Maximilian has probably escaped into the United States.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Letters received at Galveston from Queretaro say that Maximilian, Mejia, Castello, Campos and their entire army with artillery and ammunition had surrendered to Escobedo. Miramon was captured in the streets. Mendez alone missed over 200 subalterns. Campos it is reported was shot. May 6th Maximilian had a severe attack of dysentery on the 15th, when private physicians of Escobedo were sent to him.

Private correspondence from San Luis says Maximilian was expected there.

By way of Havana, May 27th, we learn that O'Hara was shot by Marquez for treachery and collusion with the rebels.

A protest had been made by prominent citizens of Chihuahua against any interference by the United States as to the disposal of Maximilian.

A letter dated on board the steamer Osceola, at Aspinwall, May 12th, state that the Rayo ran down the bay and ran out guns to bombard Santa Martha, unless Colombian officers imprisoned there were given up. The demand was acceded to and the steamer left with officers and the Colombian flag flying for Carthagena.

Advices from New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—General Sheridan publishes an order from Secretary Stanton, directing the suspension of the duties of the levee commissioners. Governor Wells and others having applied for the revocation of Sheridan's order suspending authority of the board, the Secretary called for General Sheridan's reasons, who replied as follows:

I say unqualifiedly that Governor Wells' political associates are disunionists. I have seen him turn out Union soldiers and put in rebels, still in gray suits. I saw him sneak away during the riots. His conduct seems to me as the mark of a snake in the dust. He is dishonest and his dishonesty is more than I can be expected to tolerate."

Then follows an order removing Gov. Wells and appointing L. J. Durant as Governor. Another order removes Street Commissioner Baker for being a disunionist and for inattention to the condition of the streets.

Republican Congressional Convention in California.

SAN JOSE, June 10—10.50 A. M.—Wilcox has withdrawn in favor of T. G. Phelps. An arrangement is said to have been made on Saturday night, and consummated Sunday at 10 A. M. The San Francisco delegation boys went into caucus last night. Wilcox appeared and made a speech. He said he was sorry to make the announcement, but the capitalists of San Francisco had combined against him and would spend $100,000 to beat him. His friends who had supported him and furnished funds to carry on the fight, had told him they could stand it no longer. He was assured that if nominated he would be scratched 4,000 votes in San Francisco, and his nomination would break up the Union party. He insisted upon the admission of his delegation and until they were admitted he was not a candidate. After their admission he would name a man for whom he should solicit the votes of his friends. He said he had no other alternative but withdraw, for if he ran he would be politically damned and financially ruined. Some of the boys who had not been previously posted kicked the traces and would not be dictated to. They announce their intention to oppose any man Wilcox names, but a majority will follow his suggestions.

Lovett announced himself and delegation as being favorable to the admission of the Boys' delegation. The county delegation went into caucus at 11 o'clock this morning and voted to admit the Boys' delegation but failed to harmonize on a candidate. Strong efforts are being made for Phelps, and it is whispered about that Lovett has decided to withdraw in his favor leaving the field open. The working men who made the fight for Wilcox on the principles of their party denounce Wilcox in unmeasured terms. They say he was bought by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for $10,000. Some of them will participate in the organization of the Convention but insist upon the adoption of a workingmen's platform and then withdraw, stating as a reason, that they have been sold. They have no candidate and don't know where to go, fearing treachery on every hand.

SAN JOSE, June 10.—The Congressional Convention met at the City Hall at half past 12 o'clock. Lovett called the Convention to order. Judge Ames of San Mateo was chosen temporary chairman and Barnes of San Bernardino was chosen secretary. A motion was adopted that the chair appoint a committee of seven on credentials. On a motion to appoint a Sergeant-at-Arms, the Mayor of San Jose said the police of San Jose would not allow any rowdyism. This caused considerable sensation but it was speedily quelled. The chair appointed Col. Heath of Santa Cruz, J. D. Callahan of Monterey, J. G. Dennison of San Mateo, J. M. Shearer of Santa Clara, W. Tibbetts of Santa Barbara, Sweeney of Mariposa, and Capt. Cass of Los Angeles, Judges. Tyler, a Peoples' party delegate desired to be heard but was shut off. The chair announced that the question of the admission of the San Francisco delegation would not be allowed to obtrude itself before the temporary organization. Considerable squabbling ensued, and cries of "sit down ... give him a show," Tyler was prevented from speaking. Motions were then made to adjourn to half past one, three and four o'clock, and after considerable discussion the convention adjourned until one o'clock, when the committee on credentials will report.

SAN JOSE, June 10.—The Convention met at half past 1 o'clock and adjourned until 3 o'clock to give further time for the Committee on Credentials to report. The lengthy consultation of the Committee gave rise to various rumors and hopes that the Peoples' delegates would be admitted. Judge Tyler went before the Committee and argued in favor of their admission. Tyler and Wood have proxies from country members, and will participate in the debate on the report on Credentials. The Committee have not yet agreed. The Convention cannot finish its business to-day.

SAN JOSE, June 10.—The Convention met again at 3 o'clock, when the Committee on Credentials submitted a report admitting the country delegations, and then stopped. The Committee had decided not to report on the San Francisco delegation until they could be heard, and to know from them whether the action of the Convention shall be binding. Before making a further report, they required respectable members from the San Francisco delegation to say whether the action of this Convention shall be final. The report so far as it went, was adopted. The Committee unanimously agreed to invite the San Francisco delegation to state whether they would abide the decision of the Convention. Wood stated that his delegation—Peoples—wanted no division in the Union ranks, but wanted the question fairly and equitably decided. He pledged his delegation to acquiesce in the report. Sweeny, representing the side of the Boys, said they gave their adherence cordially without qualification.

Wood stated that the delegation must be admitted or rejected by a call of the ayes and noes.

Thompson Campbell asked if the committee were prepared to report as to which of the contesting parties were entitled to seats and if discussion on the report would be allowed by the contestants themselves.

The chairman stated that they knew not who were bolters and who were not; that Union men must support Union organization; the report of the committee was not final and the committee did not pretend to dictate terms. The chair also said the contestants had a right to speak now and their silence would be construed as assent. [Cries of "report, report."] The committee then reported in favor of the Boys' delegates, stating that the committee adopted it by a vote of 6 to 1, the report was adopted on a call of ayes and noes. Ayes, 31, noes, 5. The noes were Johnson, of San Diego, Sleeper, Parsons, McMurty and another delegate from Santa Clara. Phelps was nominated by acclamation.

The Position of the President.

In Harper's Magazine for May we find an article entitled "New Aspects of the American Mind," in which, among other things, the position of the President is discussed with remarkable skill and coolness. Take the following paragraph:

We are quietly asking what men and measures will do the work needed, and cooly guiding our conduct by the result. This temper has kept our people from all rash extremes, and put them upon the path of discretion and courage. The President has not been impeached, nor has his dictation been followed; the States in the rebellion have not been overrun or destroyed, nor have their rebel leaders been allowed to resume their power. A very shrewd judgment has been brought to bear upon the rash partisans of either faction, and there are no signs of our yielding to the pretensions of any dictator, whether of the White House or Capitol. We have learned in a very costly school to discern the limitations of human characters and abilities; to use men for what they can do, without expecting them to do everything, and to admit a certain amount of imperfection without contempt or proscription. We have taken the measure of our President, his coadjutors, and his antagonists, and have not lost our temper or our principle in our likes or dislikes. We have given the President the full swing of his notions, impulses, and rhetoric, and allowed him to pass from fever heat to moderate coolness on the great questions at issue. He is evidently a calmer if not a wiser man than a year ago, and has made up his mind that he is not the only head to the Nation or the Government. He has been treated in the main, and especially of late, with much dignity, and the lesson has not been lost upon his somewhat irascible nature. The people are seeing that Andrew Jackson is his model, and that he has not added any very essential idea to the Old Hickory Platform, and has accepted emancipation more as a necessary circumstance than an essential principle. He has gone considerably forward but not upward, he has advanced somewhat, but not grown much, and finds it hard to believe that the people have outgrown him, and that new days have come to the nation that call for new measures and men. Many who think his ideas of constitutional law right in themselves give him the benefit of this judgment, while they think him wholly wrong in overlooking the demands of the political situation, and not admitting the necessity of putting the rebel States upon probation until they are fitted to resume the old privileges and functions. There is no aspect of our political history more instructive and cheering than the bearing of our Congress and our people toward the chief magistrate, who holds the office by a calamity, and whose policy is an offense to the reason and conscience of the nation. The people have kept cool, and threatened as little as they have boasted. The conviction of possessing substantial power has given them sobriety and moderation; and they do not blow the trumpet either to keep their courage up or to tell the world that they are not afraid.

THE UNITED STATES PATENT OFFICE.—A correspondent says of the Patent Office:

This magnificent building has not been completed as yet, but bids fair to be in the course of the next two years. The great hall over the offices in front has been frescoed in imitation of some rooms discovered among the excavations of Pompeii, and presents an exceedingly attractive and imposing appearance. It is soon to be converted into a sample room, the present cases to be removed, and the space to be filled with cabinets containing samples of everything manufactured in this country which the makers choose to send. One of the halls is packed full of model inventions for which no patent was ever granted, and two others of similar size containing the models of successful inventions.

A machine on which a patent is desired has to pass through twelve hands before the papers applied for can be issued, and the patent right costs the inventor twenty dollars, with fifteen additional for an examination, whether he obtains a patent or not. Patent rights used to run fourteen years, with the subsequent right for extension for seven years longer. They now run seventeen years, with no right of subsequent extension. There are in the Patent Office Library about twenty thousand volumes, of which three thousand are unbound. Almost without exception, they bear upon mechanical science and invention, and offer to the student in this branch a field for research almost boundless.

CHINESE WOMEN AT THE PARIS EXHIBITION.—A Paris correspondent writes as follows:

The Chinese ladies have arrived. We are to have Egyptians and Nubians—at least so we are assured. The Chinese disembarked at Marseilles and made their first experience of French life by a drive in a cab. One young Celestial is eighteen, and her younger companion sixteen. They cost 6,000 francs each. Neither of the young ladies speaks a word of French, as they are slaves. On arriving at the custom house the laws were read to them by which they become free on reaching French territory, and immediately knelt and kissed their master's hand. They will be seen at the counter at the Exposition when the time for selling cups of tea and dispensing smiles arrives, but till then they are kept under lock and key in some mysterious chateau in the neighborhood of Paris.

ACCORDING TO GUNTER.—This familiar phrase refers to Edmund Gunter, a distinguished English mathematician who was born in 1581, and died in 1626. He is best known as the inventor of the chain commonly used by surveyors for measuring land, and of the flat rule—marked with scales of equal parts, of sines, chords, etc., and also with logarithms of these various parts—which is used to solve problems in surveying and navigation, mechanically, with the aid of the dividers alone. Hence, in the popular use of the phrase, anything is "according to Gunter" which is done quite right, and admits of no question of improvement.

The North Pacific Railway.

The Chicago Tribune of April 27th, has the following:

Like all great projects, however essential to the progress and the necessities of mankind, the North Pacific Railway has passed through several stages of discouragement and neglect. Some two years ago the company was reorganized, and a large number of the leading railway managers and large capitalists in New England became interested in the enterprise. They applied to Congress to endorse their bonds to a reasonable amount, to be secured by the lands on the south side of the road, the track and the entire rolling stock of the company. As it was made up almost entirely of New England gentlemen, a sufficient amount of Congressional influence could not be secured to carry the bill. We learn that measures are now about perfected again to reorganize the company with so much power that it can hardly fail to secure the completion of the road as fast as men and money can do it, provided Congress, at the next session, can be induced to give the work that national encouragement which its merits warrant.

In this new arrangement it is understood that William Ogden, for himself and the North-western Railway, takes one-twelfth and one third of one-twelfth of the entire stock; Thompson, President of the Pennsylvania Central, Cass of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago, Fargo of the New York Central, Berdell, of the Erie, and the American Express Company, each take one twelfth, and the balance of the stock is arranged to be taken by New England, and perhaps by some other parties. The financial strength of the new company will be ample, and the business capacity of the managers will command the entire confidence of the public. The Union Pacific Railway will this very year save the Government, in the cost of transporting troops and supplies, more than the interest on the bonds advanced to the company, and a surplus will be left to go towards extinguishing the bonds. The same will unquestionably be true of the Northern Pacific line.

Congress has granted to the Company forty-six millions of acres of land. These lands they propose to throw open at once to pre-emption and settlement, at prices ranging from 50 cents to $2 per acre. This will at once send a large stream of settlers in advance of the builders, and crowd the finished portions with business, and shortly with return freight from the products of their industry. The advantages of such a policy are manifest. The line of the road is the only belt of country reaching entirely across the continent that is susceptible of sustaining a large farming population. Of the vast mineral treasures of Montana, Idaho and Washington Territories we need not speak. With the Northern Pacific Railroad to develop them the amount of silver and gold they would yield to the currency of the nation would, if now stated, appear absolutely fabulous. The road would of course divide the commerce of the world with the Central line, but that would be ample for both lines. As the North Pacific Railroad and the Central must meet and compete at Chicago, we need not point out the interest our citizens have in both these great highways for the travel and the transit of merchandise between Europe and Asia. Its effects upon our growth and prosperity the most sanguine would not dare now to predict.

A MIDNIGHT SCENE IN GENERAL GRANT'S CAMP.—The battle of Arbela was the eloquence of daring on the part of the young Macedonian King. That of Thermopylæ was the eloquence of patriotism on the part of Leonidas and his Helots. The battle of Austerlitz was the eloquence of bravery on the part of the young Corsican. The scene of Valley Forge was the eloquence of faith on the part of Washington. The scene after the battle of the Wilderness combined all these elements, and added the eloquence of silence.

The well known result of the fierce conflict was adverse to the army of the United States. General Lee had flung one wing of his army between our army and the base of our supplies, which would require another battle to regain them. Each division and corps commander knew this sad condition of affairs. They were all summoned to a council of war, to be held at the headquarters at one o'clock at night. They were the saddest steps ever taken by that band of devoted hearts. Fifteen thousand brave soldiers, dead or dying or wounded, were lying on the field hard by.

One after another entered, and after making a noiseless salute silently took their seats. Generals Schofield, Meade, Burnside, Sickles, Howard and others, I believe, were there. Not a word was spoken. A full half hour thus passed by. Their emotions were too deep for utterance. Hopes of millions hung on the decision of that council.

At length General Grant asked each one in succession if they had any advice to proffer. Each one answered, with a sad monosyllable, no!

The commander then wrote a few lines and handed the slip to General Meade, and he retired. This was repeated until all were gone, and the General was left alone. One of the staff of a division commander, who was sick, was the last to retire, and he is our authority for the above.

All were ignorant of each other's order. They felt assured that retreat had been directed. Any other alternative would have been believed to be madness. Had they known that the order had been given to advance, instant and universal mutiny would have been raised. The eloquent silence for which the commander has ever been noted, was the key to his success there.

The next morning each corps moved, and General Lee, the instant he perceived it with vehemence, exclaimed "Our enemy have a leader at last, and our cause is lost!" He had bid his officers the night before to let their soldiers sleep long. But now he saw the army whom he thought utterly defeated moving round between him and the base of his supplies. He hastened to begin retracing his course and confessed to an artillery officer of the Confederate army that the doom of their cause was sealed.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 11, 1867.

Gems from History.

The Albany Democrat takes courage. After having lain for a long time in a comatose state, it suddenly revives, and in its last issue utters the following adjuration:

> Connect yourself with the Democratic party. It is a party of which every true American should be proud—a party whose deeds will shine brightly on the page of history.

The deeds of the Democratic party are already written on the page of history, and the editor who makes this appeal in behalf of his party helped to write it. Witness his articles in the Pike County Democrat during the rebellion, many of which have been republished in Oregon since his arrival here. To see how brightly the deeds of his party shine on the page of history, read the following specimen extract which emanated from his own pen in 1861:

> Is it our duty to imbrue our hands in the blood of friends and old neighbors and dear kindred in the South? Why not let them go out peaceably? Why not have an equitable and just partition and separate amicably?

Now we ask, doesn't the record written on this leaf of history (which is but one leaf among a million) shine with a peculiar brightness? Isn't it something to be proud of? And isn't it a record to be looked on by every "true American" with a deep and ever deepening admiration?

The sentiment of the extract just given is that which governed the whole Democratic party in 1861. It is not an isolated expression of opinion unsupported by the common sentiment of the party, but the central idea of the policy which governed the Democracy from the beginning to the end of the rebellion. Is the editor of the Democrat proud of that portion of the history of his party which was written by himself? The above brief extract is a specimen which fairly illustrates his efforts in that line.

The last Democratic President of the United States also did something in the way of writing that sort of his history which the Democrat tells us shines with such uncommon effulgence. Here is a specimen from his last message:

> Has the Constitution delegated to Congress the power to coerce into submission a State which has withdrawn from the confederacy? After much serious reflection I have arrived at the conclusion that no such power has been delegated to Congress or any other department of the Federal Government.

Is the party whose acknowledged head talked in this style a party of which any one has particular reason to be proud? A Democratic President declared that there was no method by which the Union could be preserved; that States which had withdrawn could not be coerced into submission; that no authority was lodged with any department of the Government to take measures to prevent its own disruption and overthrow. Is this one of the deeds that shines brightly on the page of history? It is certainly quite in keeping with the sentiment of the editor of the Democrat, who demanded in 1861 that the States should "have an equitable and just partition, and separate amicably." Thus we see that the Democratic party, from its representative who occupied the high position of President of the United States down to that insignificant member of its ranks who toiled and drudged for the Pike county Democracy, was composed wholly of secessionists. This is what history declares, and these are the deeds which are said to shine so brightly on its faithful page!

In November, 1860, Attorney General Black,—Buchanan's man Jerry,—wrote an elaborate opinion taking the ground that an attempt on the part of the Government to enforce its authority in a seceding State "would be, ipso facto, an expulsion of such State from the Union." And in case such an attempt was made, he declared that "all the States would be absolved from their Federal obligations." "Is any portion of the people," demanded he, "bound to contribute their money or their blood to carry on a contest like that?"

Here was a sworn officer of the Government, an [illegible] Democrat, giving a solemn written opinion in his official capacity, to the effect that there was no remedy against secession, no power in the Government of the Union to prevent national disintegration! Is this also one of those bright pages in the history of its party which the Democrat refers to? Does it regard these specimens of Democratic wisdom, integrity and statesmanship as jewels in the crown of its party?

It is well to remember what that party has been. Its record should not be forgotten. Its deeds should be frequently brought back to the memory of the people, that its boastings about its past patriotism may, as often as they are uttered, be confounded by the simple recital of its own infamous record. These historical gems will, for the present suffice. There are plenty more of the same kind. We leave the Democrat to examine, and [illegible] the specimens we have given.

Democratic principles are equal to any emergency which the changes of politics may require. Their flexibility is illustrated in a capital manner by the action of the party in San Francisco. Some of the Democratic Ward Conventions of that city have instructed their delegates to the State Convention to use their endeavors to secure the nomination of Gen. Rosecrans as the Democratic candidate for Governor! Rosecrans, for whose defeat at Stone River these same Democrats wished and prayed with agonizing fervor; Rosecrans, for whose defeat at Chickamauga these same Democrats threw up their hats in a delirium of exultation! "Democratic principles" are actually equal to anything.

SALEM DAILY RECORD. A new daily newspaper bearing this name made its appearance on Monday morning at Salem. It is issued by D. W. Craig, who has long been known in connection the newspaper press of Oregon. The Record, its publisher says, is issued to supply a local want, and while it will be a Union paper, it will not make politics a specialty. It is furnished for twenty-five cents per week. The first number is well filled with readable matter.

A mining company on Granite Creek in Boise Basin, after two weeks run, recently cleaned up $25,252. One nugget of pure gold was found which is worth $350. This is the largest nugget ever found in the Boise mines.

FROM WARM SPRINGS.

The State Journal makes the following extracts from a letter dated Warm Springs, June 3d:

There is some apprehension and excitement here among the whites with families on account of the soldiers being sent away. They talk of sending their families to the Dalles.

The soldiers at Warm Springs are under orders to march out into the Harney Lake country and this leaves this agency unprotected from the Snakes.

There is fresh sign of the Snakes within a short distance of the Agency, and there is some reason for the families to be alarmed. I believe there is some danger myself. It is eighty miles from here to the Dalles, and a very rough road.

Captain Smith, the agent here, is not well pleased at having a company of his Indians sent so far away that they could render no assistance to the Agency in case it was attacked by the Snakes. And the Indians who are left here are very much afraid of the Snakes, as they have been cleaned out by them a few times.

The Agent here appears to be exerting himself energetically in behalf of the Indians, and they would do anything in the world for him. The Indian soldiers will leave to-morrow for the war path against the Snakes and will doubtless be of great service. They will have a scalp dance to-day. They have about twenty-five scalps they took on Crooked river last winter about forty miles from here. This company of Indian soldiers is under command of Lieut. Darrah and McCay, both good men, and will no doubt give a good account of themselves in the present campaign against the hostile [illegible].

The Indians at this Agency have put in quite a large crop of wheat, [illegible] well and if the grasshoppers let it be it will make a fine crop.

STATE ITEMS.

A series of revival meetings is in progress at Corvallis under the ministrations of Rev. Mr. Crossman.

The friends of Rev. James Kelsay at Corvallis recently made him a donation visit and left in his hands one hundred and seven dollars.

The Democrats have nominated a full party ticket at Corvallis for the municipal election. The Gazette says that up to Saturday the Republicans had made no nominations.

The County Commissioners of Polk county, says the Review, have let a contract for the construction of a covered bridge over the Luckimute at Simpson's. The bridge will be one of the best in the State.

The Guard learns that a shooting affray occurred last Tuesday in Suislaw Valley, in which a man named Anderson Barlow was wounded by a pistol shot fired by Wm. Delemater. The shot will probably prove fatal.

The Democratic paper at Eugene puts the following absurd question: "White men of Oregon, did Williams and Henderson express your sentiments when they pledged you to military despotism and negro equality, or did they lie?" Better ask Washington Territory.

FROM OWYHEE.

From the Avalanche of the 1st inst. we have the following mining items:

The lower tunnel and south shaft on this mine connected a few days ago. The tunnel is eight hundred feet in length and at its intersection with the South Poorman Shaft is two hundred and fifty feet below the surface. This mine is now in better condition to take out cheaply any given quantity of ore than any in the Camp—if not the best in the camp—if not the best in the Territory—it being thoroughly drained and ventilated to such a depth. There are now three tunnels started on the old Hays & Ray location following a clearly defined ledge into the original shaft on the Poorman, establishing beyond a doubt that the two claims were but one. The present favorable condition of the mine is principally due to Charles S. Peck, Esq., who designed and under whose superintendence the main works have been conducted. He has as fully made the Company's interests his own as unflagging industry and application and self-interest combined could make a man, and we were pleased to know that the Company has rewarded his services by continuing him as the mining Superintendent. He informs us that stoping will commence in the south shaft the ensuing week, and that the force of miners will be increased as fast as he may deemed advisable.

In our rambles on War Eagle this week, we passed the works of this claim in Webfoot Gulch. Found Judge Robertson and Colonel Fassett playing miner almost to perfection. The Judge says he enjoys mining with a pick and shovel, and it's a joy to have the assurance of the fact by his acts and words, for when a man strikes a lead of enjoyment which is so large and promises such permanency it is a subject of congratulation. The Judge will not be harassed with doubts as to the scarcity of the joys to be derived from the use of a pick and shovel, for they are only limited by a man's willingness to obtain them.

They have a deep cut run into the mountain eastward from the gulch, and a well timbered shaft down twenty-five feet at the end of the cut. A couple of streaks of vein matter have been found which will probably lead to a solid ledge at a greater depth. The bed-rock lies deep at their works.

The Oro Fino & Morning Star Company made a rough clean-up Sunday of nearly fifty tons of ore—giving a brick of $1,704 56. In conversation with the Superintendent, we learn that all things considered the result is satisfactory. If a close clean-up had been made, it would have given about $40 per ton.

A shaft is started downwards from the lower level, and is to reach the depth of fifty feet as soon as possible. The ore coming from this shaft looks very well, and there is full five feet of quartz in the ledge. As soon as the new shaft is put down, the product of the mine can be largely increased. The high reputation of the Oro Fino will be re-established and maintained.

The Lincoln Mill is undergoing some repairs and will be ready for crushing in a day or two, and will be put to work as soon as ore can be obtained. Messrs. Ford & Gafford, of the Owyhee Gold & Silver Mining Company—as we stated last week—have leased the property, and are looking about to procure a supply of rock. They are ready to do custom work upon the best terms. The utmost care will be taken to give full satisfaction to mine owners. The company's mine being located in Flint, and the road not yet passable between here and there, the mill must be supplied from this district. The company will either buy ore or work it at a given price per ton.

The placer miners on Blue Gulch are doing a large amount of squirting about now, and the prospects for several weeks' heavy pressure are satisfactory.

On Jacob's Gulch, the condition of things is about a stand off to Blue Gulch, so far as heard from. Claims running every possible moment. No clean-ups as yet, we believe. Estimates of the amount of placer gold that will be unearthed below and including Long Gulch the present season, are placed as high as $100,000 by the better informed. Pretty good for ground supposed abroad to be abandoned. There will be good "white man's diggings" in Jacob's and Blue gulches for several years to come, so far as that is concerned.

The Idaho World of the 1st inst. relates the following:

From Mr. Shepherd, Wells, Fargo & Co's Messenger of the Umatilla route, who came in by Wednesday's stage, we learn that a few days ago, Lum Davis and another man, whose name we fail to remember, while hunting in Burnt river valley, about twelve miles from Miller's Ranch, heard of two Indians who had been seen prowling around. They started in pursuit, and finally came in sight of the Indians just as they were preparing to cook a piece of horse they had stolen and killed. Davis let fly at them with his Henry rifle while the pair were attempting to escape and both fell at that shot. He thought they were "playing possum" on him, however, and to make sure work of them fired seven more balls into their carcasses. On examination, he discovered that his first shot had really been fatal to them both.

COLDS AND COUGHS.—Sudden changes of climate are sources of Pulmonary and Bronchial affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies act speedily when taken in the early stage of the disease, take at once "Brown's Bronchial Troches," let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be warded off.

PERFECTLY SATISFIED.—Every one that visits BUCHTEL'S PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, comes away perfectly satisfied with their bargains. The highest style of the art is reached in the beautiful Sun Pearls and Photographs.

For Mayor.—J. P. O. LOWNSDALE.
For Recorder.—J. J. HOFFMAN.
For Treasurer.—C. P. FERRY.
For Assessor.—W. H. WETSELL.

Councilmen:

First Ward.—WM. DIERDORFF.
Second Ward.—R. B. KNAPP, W. H. WATKINS.
Third Ward.—M. F. MULKEY, C. D. BURCH, L. [illegible]

SEVEN MILLIONS FOR POPULATION.—The Red Bluff Independent, speaking of the expenditure of $7,000,000 for the territory of Russian America, falls into the following train of speculation about what that sum would have done toward populating the Pacific coast:

Appropriated to this service, one-seventh of the sum lately squandered by Congress would have done an immensity of good to the Pacific States. What we want is population, and a working population at that. We want neither professional men nor capitalists until we get more primary producers. Let us see what a million of dollars would accomplish in that respect. It costs, on the competition of the best steamboat men, about eighty dollars per head to transport second-cabin passengers from New York to San Francisco, including the transit of the Isthmus by railroad. Take $400,000 to defray the expenses of [illegible] men and we would gain five thousand single mechanics and artisans, at once. The other $600,000, appropriated to bringing out married men and their wives, to till land and engage in pursuits like dairying, would give us three thousand, seven hundred and fifty couples to settle in the valleys, and plant the vine and fig tree on every hill. This would be a total gain of 12,500 people to the population of the Pacific States, let them distribute themselves as they would. Seven millions of dollars, thus appropriated and expended by the general government for the development of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Arizona, would have added to the population of the Pacific just 61,250 men and 26,250 women, making a grand total of 87,500 souls. Of course, with the great advantages possessed by California over her sister States, added to the fact that San Francisco would be the first point of disembarkation, our State could not fail to secure at least two thirds of these people as permanent residents. With such figures as these before us, we cannot help thinking that the expenditure of seven millions of dollars for Seward's "big thing on ice," was lamentable waste of money that might have been otherwise used advantageously.

[illegible].—The saddening intelligence reached this city [illegible] day, by steamer from Monticello, that Henry [illegible], son of A. L. Abernethy, of Oak Point, was [illegible] in the Columbia river opposite Oak Point, last [illegible] afternoon. He was sailing in a small boat, [illegible] with him a couple of young ladies. The boat was carrying too much sail for safety, with a stiff breeze, and all three were sitting on the windward side to keep [illegible] trim. Running rapidly around a point, the boat [illegible] the sheltered lee of the land, when the [illegible] up loosely, and in an instant the boat went over, [illegible] all three backward into the water. Henry [illegible] immediately caught both the young ladies to save them, and [illegible] in keeping them from sinking till [illegible] in a fishing boat, which was near, [illegible] them. At that instant, all three seemed to be clinging [illegible] one of the girls entirely under the water. As the [illegible] caught hold of the girls, young Abernethy [illegible] from their grasp, and struck out in a [illegible] for the shore. The girls were rescued and [illegible] boat started after Abernethy. Just as the boat came up to him, he sunk and was seen no more. The river was dragged, but up to yesterday, the body had not been [illegible]. Young Abernethy was well known in this city, and a very large circle of acquaintances and associates sincerely mourn his untimely death.

DEMOCRATIC PRELIMINARY MEETING.—About twenty or thirty of the Democratic voters of the city had a meeting at the old theatre, yesterday afternoon, for consultation [illegible] to the approaching municipal election. Mr. [illegible] acted as Chairman, and E. J. Kidd, Secretary. [illegible] some discussion as to the course to be pursued, by [illegible] citizens, it was agreed that mass meetings should be held in each ward, this evening; each [illegible] to elect a committee of five to constitute a Democratic Central Committee for the city; this committee [illegible] to consult together and prepare a plan of procedure, [illegible] report to a subsequent mass meeting for the city. It is expected that this meeting will be called for [illegible] evening. As near as we could learn the sentiments of those participating in the meeting, yesterday, the idea of running a "Peoples' ticket against the regular Union ticket, had the preference over any other design; but the result will doubtless be that a straight out Democratic ticket will be put in the field (or what is the same thing, a ticket for which none but Democrats will vote.

[illegible] ITEMS.—The Register which usually comes [illegible] or Saturday evening, was not received [illegible]. The daily was as [illegible]. [illegible] it we clip the subjoined items: At [illegible] of the Board of Delegates of the Fire [illegible] Secretary was instructed to convene a [illegible] of citizens to take into consideration the [illegible] of celebrating the coming Fourth of July at [illegible]....The boys in the Garrison on Wednesday last [illegible] another Base Ball Club by and under the name of the "Sherman Base Ball Club." A number of the members have been soldiers in Sherman's army. We did not learn the name of the officers....Col. Hodges, the very efficient Quartermaster of this Depot, has caused the driving of piles along the banks of the Columbia on the Military Reserve, to prevent the washing away of the banks. The same will be capped and planked as soon as the water recedes, and abundantly secure the safety of the banks against inroads by the high water and be also add to the appearance of the city front.

GOOD TEMPLARS AT MONTICELLO.—By the Okanogan [illegible], we have a letter from Capt. Adams, [illegible]: "On the 6th of June, I organized a lodge of Good Templars at Monticello, W. T., of thirteen charter [illegible]. The lodge takes the name of "The Star of [illegible] lodge." The following is a list of officers: Michael [illegible], W. C. T.; Miss Elvira M. Huntington, W. S. [illegible]; Samuel J. Huntington, W. A. S.; Frederick [illegible], W. F. S.; Miss Caroline Huntington, W. T.; Thos. [illegible], W. M.; Miss Mary Smith, W. D. M.; Miss [illegible] M. Huntington, W. I. G.; John Reardon, W. O. G.; Rev. James H. B. Royal, W. C.; Dorsey J. Huntington, P. W. C. T.

[illegible] REAPERS.—The Oregon Iron Works [illegible] is engaged in the manufacture of fifty Webster [illegible] on contract with parties at Salem. The [illegible], numbering eight or ten of the machines, [illegible] this morning. These machines are fully up to [illegible] seen of Eastern make, in workmanship and [illegible] of movement. The Oregon Iron Works is now [illegible] to make almost anything constructed of iron [illegible] wood, from an apple parer to a steamboat. The [illegible] reapers, mentioned above, are furnished at a cost [illegible]. The Messrs. McCully, Church, Sain [illegible] and [illegible], are the Salem contractors.

[illegible] COURT.—Judge Shattuck was unable to attend [illegible] and in accordance with law the court [illegible] to nine o'clock this morning. We understand that he will, if possible, appear this morning for the purpose of opening the court and adjourning for a few days till his injured leg shall [illegible] better. Should he not attend to-day, the court will [illegible] for the term.

1st Ward—Wm. Dierdorff.
2d Ward—R. B. Knapp and W. H. Watkins.
3d Ward—M. F. Mulkey, L. Besser, and C. D. Burch.

In the 1st Ward, Messrs. C. Dills, J. W. Cook and D. J. Malarky were elected Ward Committee.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT DEADY JUDGE.—Monday June 10th:

[illegible] Jubitz, admitted to citizenship.

Baldwin vs Strong, adm'r.; plaintiff had leave to file [illegible] to answer.

[illegible] vs Hamilton, et al, set for argument on Thursday morning next.

[illegible] OUTRAGE.—The sensibilities of our Caucasian [illegible] citizens, were shocked yesterday by discovering at [illegible] of the longest kite string in town, the blackest kind [illegible] "man and brother." He had the biggest kite, the [illegible] colors and flew them higher than any [illegible] Mongolian in the city. Whither are we drifting? Where is our 'immaculate' eagle-bird?

RECORDER'S COURT.—In the Recorder's Court, yesterday, [illegible] squaw named Mary, and a half-breed woman, Mary [illegible], were up on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, and were fined, each $10 and costs.

[illegible] Hope, on the charge of counterfeiting, waived an [illegible] and was committed to await the action of the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $1,500.

[illegible] FREIGHTS.—The steamer Senator brought [illegible] from Oregon City, yesterday, 123 gunnies bacon, [illegible] woolen goods, 3,731 qr sks flour, 29 hlf bbls provisions, 19 boxes do., 70 sks middlings, 200 sks bran, 2 bales furs, 1 keg, 45 oak planks, 8 sewing machines, 1 [illegible] books and maps and a lot of household furniture.

[illegible].—The stone work of Mrs. Mead's new [illegible] for the Bank of British Columbia was begun [illegible]. The work promises to be unusually imposing [illegible]. As the workmen were engaged in [illegible] the first [illegible] of stone, the place was [illegible] by a group of interested and admiring spectators.

FALLING AGAIN.—The river is again falling slowly [illegible] entertained that the Columbia bottoms [illegible] destructive inundation.

THE WIDE AWAKES will play this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

THINGS WILL CHANGE. THE PEOPLE WILL HAVE THEIR [illegible]—and all go to Barman Bros. with cash and buy [illegible] Cheap.

"[illegible] AND USEFUL."—Those who study the [illegible] virtue of economy, and at the same time [illegible] to the beautiful, are sure to provide themselves with Howe & Stevens' FAMILY DYE COLORS. They [illegible] the necessity of buying new garments. [illegible] Davis.

[illegible] FOR CHILDREN.—Don't fail to procure [illegible] Soothing Syrup for children teething. [illegible] who has ever tried it, will consent to let her [illegible] through this critical period without the aid of [illegible]. Gives rest to the mother, [illegible] the child. Cures wind colic, and [illegible] the bowels. 25 cents a bottle. Hostetter, [illegible] for the Pacific C[illegible].

Consumption like the Rattle Snake, always gives warning of its approach. A hacking cough, dull pain in the chest, difficulty of breathing, are the indications that there is more or less irritation of the lungs. If this be neglected, and go on until pustules are formed, followed by tubercles, which sometimes eat off the blood vessels, death will be the result. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the irritated parts, allay the inflammation, removing the phlegm and matter, thus stopping the cough, and preventing fatal consumption. PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER, after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Sting of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, as an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.

He had not where to Lay His Head.

Birds have their quiet nest,
  Foxes their holes and man his peaceful bed,
All creatures have their rest
  But Jesus had not where to lay his head

And yet he came to give
  The weary and the heavy laden rest
To bid the sinner live
  And soothe our griefs to slumber on his breast

Let the birds seek their nest
  Foxes their holes, and man his peaceful bed
Come Savior in my breast,
  Come and repose thine oft rejected head

Come, give me rest, and take
  The only rest on earth thou lov'st within
A heart that for thy sake
  Shall purify itself from every sin

Fearful Tragedy at Chicago.

[From the Chicago Tribune, April 30.]

Astonishment has frequently been expressed that so many deeds of crime, so large a proportion of the outrages committed against society, are traced out and the perpetrators thereof brought to punishment by the strong arm of the law But those conversant with the working of the system of justice that exists in the larger cities do not wonder at the apparently surpassing vigilance and skill which pursue the murderer or the highway robber to his hiding place There are so many circumstances, a chance word dropped here and there, rumors and traces which the villain, cunning to plot, but careless to conceal, leaves, which tend to throw light upon a dark deed of the past, that it is rather a matter of surprise that they should have remained hid so long from the knowledge of the public In a great majority of cases murder will out, and justice sooner or later be done.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

Knowledge of a horrible murder committed in this city last fall has recently been gained by the public authorities, and though most of the particulars are yet shrouded in mystery, and though the clue held is yet very slight, there can hardly be a doubt that new developments will speedily occur, by which the affair, invested in all its shocking and repulsive details will be publicly known, and the assassins dragged forth from their fancied security to suffer the richly deserved penalty.

STARTLING REVELATIONS.

During the winter a woman named Mrs. Miller, the keeper of a notorious house at No. 249 Wells street, was arrested on the charge of having committed a robbery which had occurred at her place. The woman was arrested on the day following the night during which the crime was alleged to have been perpetrated. The evidence against her seemed conclusive, and at the close of her trial before the Recorder, she was sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary. When Mrs. Miller was taken by the police to the Armory, immediately after her arrest, she was placed in a cell with another fallen woman She was somewhat intoxicated at the time, and disposed to be talkative. In the course of her conversation with her fellow prisoner she made some disconnected and broken remarks with reference to a murder which she said had been committed at her house a short time previously. These remarks were brought about by her many protestations of innocence of the crime charged to her. She said that one Nan Jones was the guilty one; and from this she was led to connect this name with a murder. She alleged that Nan Jones was a bad woman; that she had "gone through," or robbed, many men. Then spoke of how this woman had taken the blood of a man upon her hands in order to get his money.

These remarks made an impression upon the one who heard them and were remembered by her About six weeks ago Sergeant Barrett, of the First Precinct, met this woman, and was told what Mrs. Miller had said. Taking this slender statement as a starting point, this officer, with characteristic shrewdness, entered upon an investigation which is now upon the verge of a culmination completely successful.

On Saturday last Captain Hickey, of the First Precinct, went to Joliet on special business. He visited the Penitentiary and had a long interview with Mrs. Miller, now serving out her time. The woman was frank, and to the questions put to her revealed the whole particulars of the affair, as known to herself. From her statement it appears that the murder was committed in the month of October last, at the house No. 249 Wells street At that time the house, as well as the one adjoining on the south, a place of similar character, was kept by the notorious Ed. Stockton, alias Jones. There were three inmates, Stockton's mistress, who goes by the name of Ida Stockton, alias Nan Jones, Mrs. Miller, and a girl named Ellen Connelly, alias Mick.

THE MURDER.

On the fatal night a well-dressed stranger called at the house. He came into and stayed all night, being the only one who slept there, not connected with the place. Previous to his retiring he sat in the parlor with the above named parties, laughing and chatting He seemed to have plenty of money, and it was noticed that Stockton and his mistress eyed him intently, and were very anxious that he should stay all night He retired with Mrs. Miller.

According to her statement, shortly after midnight, when the stranger had fallen asleep, Stockton, preceded by his mistress, bearing a light, entered the room, both on tip toe. She stated that Stockton came straight to the bedside, and while the woman Nan Jones held the light, he drew a knife and stabbed the unconscious sleeper to the heart. The poor victim died without a sigh. She states that then, quietly and carefully avoiding any noise, the assassin wrapt the lifeless body in the blood stained quilt and by the help of his assistant b[illegible] it below stairs to the altar, where it was bur[illegible]

[illegible] FEAR.

[illegible] said that such was her fear of Stockton [illegible] was she by his threats, that [illegible] any disclosures concerning [illegible] action lest she herself might [illegible] stated further that the murdered man [illegible] told her that he was from New York, and that he was stopping at some hotel here, the name of which she did not remember. Ninety dollars in money and an overcoat are said to have been the wages of this bloody deed.

In the statement which she made, Mrs. Miller said that she should not have divulged the secret but for two facts, one was that she was now in prison atoning for a crime committed by Nan Jones, who she said was the author of the robbery for which she herself had been sent up; the other was that Stockton was now in confinement, deprived of power to do her harm.

THE SEARCH.

Gaining from the informing witness an accurate description of the spot where the body of the murdered man was alleged to have been buried, Capt. Hickey returned to the city. Yesterday several policemen were set at work to dig at the place indicated It was found, on proceeding to the place, that the position of the building had been somewhat changed. An addition had been built on at the rear, the basement walls had been removed from one place and put up in another. The stairs, under which the body was said to have been deposited, had been placed further back. The foundation timbers, which had supported an old basement flooring, though much decayed, interfered with the movements of the men! The whole of yesterday afternoon was spent in digging, but night closed in on their search before it had been rewarded with success. But the investigation will be proceeded with to-day, when it is expected that the body of the victim will be found It may be necessary to send to the Penitentiary for the woman Miller to point the exact locality; but no doubt is entertained of the actual occurrence of the above narrated affair, as that, sooner or later, the body will be discovered.

THE ACCUSED.

Ed. Stockton, alias Jones, is an individual who has many times been in the hands of the police for the perpetration of a crime. Shortly after the arrest of Mrs. Miller, he was arrested by officer Swensen for a highway robbery in which he took a part, at the saloon of the "Bully Boy," near the corner of Jackson and Wells streets He was tried at the last term of the Recorder's court, and sent to seven years in the Penitentiary.

Ida Stockton, alias Nan Jones, his alleged partner in the crime, was arrested yesterday morning at No. 125 Van Buren street, to await the result This woman has long borne a hard name. She is 27 years of age, and has a face marked by dissipation, but otherwise not unprepossessing. She is said to be a woman of unusual shrewdness and fenced determination

POPULAR EXCITEMENT.

Yesterday rumors of every description were afloat upon the streets concerning the affair. The policemen detailed to work at the spot were enjoined to communicate to no one for what they were searching, and it was only suspected what was the true object of their labors Great crowds of people thronged the locality during the entire afternoon, gazing curiously at the house beneath which the officers were working, and the utmost excitement seemed generally to prevail

THE "ONE CHANCE IN A THOUSAND."—Mr Nicholas Hammond, of New Marion, was struck by lightning on the morning of the 4th inst. Mr Hammond was alone in a meadow at the time, and was not found for about an hour, and when discovered was entirely divested of his clothing, even to his boots, which were either torn or burned off him; one of them was found fifty or sixty yards from him. The electricity entered the ground near where the boot was found. At latest accounts Mr. Hammond was yet alive, but there was no prospect of his recovery

Victoria and King Theodorus

A good story, says a Cleveland paper, is told of the widowed Queen of England There is, as our readers are aware, in the tropical region of Eastern Africa, north of the Equator, a mountainous country called Abyssinia, inhabited by a sort of half civilized people professing a debased Christianity, supposed to have been derived from the earliest teachers of that faith, and corrupted by the intermixture of heathen and Mohammedan traditions From its great elevation and mountainous character, Abyssinia is almost inaccessible to, and isolated from the outside world The British Government has an Embassador or Minister Plenipotentiary residing near the Court of Theodorus, the King of Abyssinia Now, the King had heard of the accomplishments and great power of his Royal sister, the Queen of England, and of her widowed estate, and desired to open a correspondence with her He accordingly wrote her a letter, which was duly forwarded, but which Victoria refused or neglected to answer

King Theodorus regarded this refusal or neglect to respond to his courteous epistle as a studied insult, and his wrath waxed so hot that he threw the Queen's representative and several of her other subjects, resident near his Court, into prison These he held as hostages to compel the British Queen to show some token of common civility. The scheme had the desired effect. As the King was intrenched in his mountain fastnesses, it was deemed too expensive a job to undertake by force to procure the release of the prisoners, and so Queen Victoria wrote him two letters, apologetic and friendly, both of which he received

But here comes to view a new turn of affairs. King Theodorus had got the letters from England's haughty Queen; but, as she had at first stood on her dignity in not sending him a civil answer to his letter, so now it was his turn to stand on his dignity as a brother monarch. He did not reply to either of her letters, nor did he release his British prisoners. The Queen's Government dare not attempt their release by force or by threats for fear King Theodorus might, in one of his angry moods, put them to death. So stands the case at present. It is rather a puzzling dilemma

WOMEN AND POLITICS—Mrs. Swisshelm writes the following letter to the editor of the Pittsburg Commercial, in reply to a recent article in his paper

SIR. In justice to a cause much better used to ridicule than reason, give me a space for some reply to your late remarks under the head of "Pitch of Politics." In it you state that Antoinette Brown, in memorializing the Legislature of Kentucky to grant the right of suffrage to woman, urges as a motive, that their votes would neutralize those of the negro. You think this wicked, and strangely conclude that, therefore, the influence of women, through the ballot-box, would not be good. Can you refer to the time and place at which Mrs. Brown Blackwell was chosen by the women of this country as their representative? "That little band who wore bloomers and defied the ridicule of bad boys" are perhaps the last that could be set up as representing any one.

It would be difficult to persuade one man or woman in a thousand that any person of average common sense would render him or herself liable to street mobbing for the sake of any dress, and up to this present time no one of the women of that band has originated an idea or put an old thought into a new dress. They are simply the foam thrown up by the heaving of that ocean of discontent which has its ebb and flow in the heart of every woman who thinks, and must therefore feel the injustice of the laws under which she lives.

There is not one woman who is agreed that "all she can acquire by her labor, service or act during coverture shall belong to her husband;" not one who is agreed to the law of coverture itself; not one who is agreed to the law which deprives her of the power to secure to her children at death any portion of the estate her industry and economy may have contributed to accumulate, not one who is agreed to the law which leaves that estate to her successor with the probability of her children being turned out.

No woman is agreed to the law which authorizes a man to "arrest and take into custody, without legal process, his slave, his apprentice and his wife."

There are several other things on our statute books, placed there by those respectable old Anglo-Saxon ancestors of ours, who ate wild boars and wore brass collars, in the days when Alfred the Great was King, to which woman are not agreed, and of these is that which attaches a still further penalty to marriage by depriving a married woman of the natural right of the custody of her child. This universal discontent, or rather the laws which cause it, are the reasons for the necessity of the elective franchise for women. Her right to it does not depend on the good conduct of any one woman or band of women The influence of woman on our general politics, or for what party women will vote, is not the question.

I know that the old Miltonic idea that she is "Heaven's last, best gift to man" is so ingrained into our modes of thought that few would ask any change for her without trying to prove that such a change would benefit him. It is universally assumed that men are so supremely selfish that any claim of justice must be unheard unless marked by an appeal to that selfishness, and so the plea that female suffrage will redound to the welfare of man has been prominently thrust forward. It may be correct and it may not; yet woman has a natural right to a voice in making laws she is taxed to support and compelled to obey, and on which must always depend her life and everything which makes life dear.

AN O'ER TRUE-TALE.—"Well, Pat," I said to one of my faithful adherents in politics, after the trying campaign of last December was over and my pet project accomplished in the election for Register, "Well, Pat, how often did you vote at the last election?"

"Och! yer honor," was the modest reply of my trusty henchman, "don't be axin' me any sich questions. Ye's knows it's intirely agin the law to answer them."

"Yes, Pat, but it's all over now, and you can trust me, any way."

"Well, your honor, I didn't vote but fower times."

"Only four! Why, how did that happen? You must have been registered in more places than that."

"So I was. I was registered in eight wards, but I only got a chance to vote in fowor of 'em."

"What was the matter? Did the police get track of you?"

"Oh, no, yer honor; no danger of that. My horses were posted, and all answered illegantly, without a bungle among them. But this was the way it came about. I had voted fower times, but just as I got through I met McCool's repaytors coming round."

"Repeaters, Pat! Why, what are those?"

"Och, sure, and yer honor knows as well as meself Repaytors! them's the bies what's register ed in every districk. Well, as I was sayin', jest as I left me last votin' place, I met McCool's repaytors. They were thirty-two of them, and Rooney O'Flaherty was at the head. Now I had been going it sthrong for the Gineral for Rigister, as yer honor tould me yo wanted me to, and I couldn't stand that, at all, at all. So I up and says, 'Rooney,' says I, 'this won't do,' says I, 'ye's must play fair with the Gineral.' 'What would ye have me do?' says he, 'ain't we good Dimmicrats, as good as yerself?' says he 'Ye's are that,' says I, 'but the Gineral is a great friend of mine,' says I—he's a friend of yer honor's, and that's all the same—'and yo's mustn't be too hard on him.' 'Well, what do you want?' says he, as fair as any man could. 'Why, you must divide up,' says I, 'and take half of the Gineral's tickets and the other half of yo's own vote for McCool, if ye's like!' With that we went into the corner grocery kept by Tim Shannon, where we had a drink all round"

"How was that? In spite of the Excise Law, that forbids the sale of liquor on election days?"

"Och, bother the Excise Law. We had a drink all round, and made one-half of them throw away their McCool tickets, and take the Gineral's! But after that I had to go round with them to make sure that they voted fair That's the way it came about that I only voted fower time'

"But, Pat, why didn't you challenge them all?"

"Och, yer honor, that would have been agin me conscience."

"Against your conscience! What do you mean by that?"

"Why, sure and weren't they all Dimmicrats, and voting the regular ticket of Hoffman Governor? It would have been intirely agin me conscience to lose so many good Dimmicratic votes."—New York Citizen

How stealthily the years creep upon us, one by one, until some day we are startled to find ourselves grown old! It is curious to see what different estimates people put upon old age at different periods of their own lives To the youth in his teens the man of middle age appears quite antiquated, but when he himself arrives at forty years he can scarce believe he is no longer young, and is astonished to see so many who were but infants the other day now jostling him as full grown men in the race of life. Said one gentleman to another once in our hearing, "What has become of all the old men? When you and I were boys there were many old gentlemen about, but they seem to be all gone." "Ah," said his friend with a smile, "ask these youngsters where the old men are. They'll tell you—and you will find yourself among them!"

Five Minutes too Late.

The wife of an English officer was forced to leave her residence in the mountains Her husband's regiment had recently been ordered to the seat of war, and it was unsafe for her to remain unprotected, except by native servants, in her Indian bungalow A party of friends were to leave for the island presidency below, and she was to join them

The hour for departure arrived, and the lady's ayah announced that the travelers were waiting in their palanquins at the door The servant endeavors to hasten the lady's preparations, but the "Mem Sahib" is a confirmed procrastinator, and so much has been left till this last moment unprepared and undone that she cannot obey the summons The climate is not favorable to punctuation, besides, there is a "tide" to be caught at the next bunder, and it, proverbially, will wait for no one, therefore, with some few apologies, the party moved on, expressing their assurance that Mrs. T would soon overtake them

She was of the same opinion, and bore their desertion very philosophically, insisting, even, on not detaining a gentleman of the group, who would fain have waited her leisure.

As she entered her palanquin she observed to her ayah, the only servant who accompanied her, that she had been, "after all, only five minutes too late" The servant showed her ivory teeth good humoredly in assent, and retired to take possession of her own conveyance, in which she was ordered to follow closely that of her mistress, deeming the loss of time of as little moment as the lady did.

The palanquin bearers then began their labors, and the first portion of the descent was achieved pleasantly and safely. Seated in her coffin like carriage, Mrs T looked forth on a scene of almost unrivalled beauty, every turn of the mountain pathway varying its character and increasing its loveliness, and forgot the "five minutes too late" which had separated her from her companions, and the fact that there was still no appearance of rejoining them.

The latter recollection had, however, occurred to her bearers and gradually, though the lady marked it not, they slackened their pace and held low conference among themselves The ayah's palanquin was far from behind the travelers who preceded them, far before, the road was solitary, the jungle deep and secret as the grave; the lady known to be rich in jewels, if not in gold and rupees.

Evening was closing in, day fades rapidly in the east, and the brief twilight is as solemn as it is soft and short. The bearers' steps fell slower and slower, and at last a vague fear awoke in the lady's mind, to which the gradually deepening gloom added force. A regret, alas! too late also, for suddenly her palanquin was set upon the ground, and eight shadowy forms gathered round the door, with glittering eyes and looks from which she shrank, while one in brief phrase desired her to give him her money.

The request was not instantly granted The Scotchwoman was courageous, and represented to her false guides that they could neither rob nor injure a woman with impunity. In answer, one fellow pointed to the deep jungle, and made an a expressive sign at the back of his own throat.

She saw that it would be vain to refuse, and delivered the small box she had with her and her money. They received it silently; and sitting down in her sight, coolly examined and divided their spoil.

Then came a fearful pause. They looked toward the palanquin; they were evidently consulting as to what they should do with her.

Never could she afterward forget the feeling with which her gaze encountered those terrible black eyes! The agony of suspense was more than she could bear; and as they arose simultaneously, she buried her face in her hands, and in short, almost wordless prayer, commended her soul to her Creator.

At that instant a frightful roar, echoed by a thrilling scream, or rather yell, burst on her ear. She looked up, and beheld her foes scattered on all sides, pursued by a tiger, to whose remorseless thirst one had evidently fallen a prey, for faint from a distance came a cry of mortal agony. She was saved! The five minutes they had loitered over their spoil had, through the mercy of a good Providence, made crime too late to be consummated.

She sat there alone, wonderfully preserved, but still in an awful situation for a female, since night was gathering round her, and the lair of the wild beast so near! Her heart beat audibly, when suddenly the stillness was broken by a familiar and blessed sound. "Auld Lang Syne," played on her native bagpipes, stole on the silence of the evening; and relieved from a weight of terror—from the fear of death itself—she shed large, heavy tears as the clear music approached her. A Highland regiment was on its march back to the presidency, and either its approach had been perceived by the robbers who had escaped the tiger; and thus prevented their return to their victim, or their superstitious terror at the jungle tyrant had kept them from the spot.

In a few minutes some of the Highland officers were beside the palanquin, listening indignantly to the lady's story, and offering her every assistance in their power. She was a good horsewoman, and the adjutant resigned his steed to her. Her jewels and money, found scattered on the road, were collected and given in charge to a Highlander, and she was escorted in safety by the gallant 7th to the bunder, from whence she could embark for Bombay.

If anything could cure procrastination, the effect of such a "five minutes too late" might be expected to perform it.

A CONFIDENCE GAME.—Henry Gaston, of Ross county, Ohio, came to this city on the 12 M. train from Chillicothe, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, and unfortunately fell into the company of two confidence persons, a man and a woman, who managed by their fascinating talk and gentle manner to insinuate themselves into the open confidence of the unsuspecting countryman. "My dear," said the man to his confederate, whom he represented as his wife, as the train neared the city, "have you the check your father gave you to liquidate that small account of $750, owing to Mr. Bradford, of Cincinnati?"

"Yes, dear; why do you ask?"

"Because," was the reply, "as we wish to start this evening for New York, and the bank will be closed when we arrive in Cincinnati, I was thinking if Mr. Gascon would discount it for us, it would save us the inconvenience of remaining in the city until to-morrow evening."

Mr. G. immediately, with a view to accommodate and make a little, advanced $725. Soon after the cars arrived at this city, and the parties separated the best of friends. Yesterday morning he presented the check, and to his unutterable horror and dismay, found that the signature upon the paper (Thos. L Snyder) was not recognized, whereupon the unhappy man discovered that he had been the dupe of two swindlers.

SCROFULA AND KING'S EVIL!

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood, The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts; it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance.

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time, in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting.

☞ Dr HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world, and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made—provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

FOR REFERENCE

I would refer you to L. L. Peck, of Portland, Oregon, and hundreds of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years.

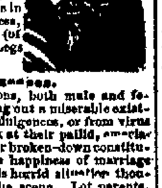
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequences of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to affect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

Consultations FREE.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Diseases and Pregnancy, sent by mail Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney St., cor. Commercial San Francisco. Postoffice Box 252.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian (or Weekly Oregonian, as the case may be.)

GOOD GRUB AND PLENTY OF IT!

AT THE

Bennett House,

SALEM, OREGON.

L. JAY S. TURNEY,

HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL, is prepared to accommodate the traveling public, and ONE HUNDRED REGULAR BOARDERS, in as good style as any House on the Coast He has determined to make the "Bennett" as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem. He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort, and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem, and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap-trap, pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords

His Bar-room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort

In short, he intends making an effort to please ALL who stop at the BENNETT HOUSE And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere, and promises if they are not well treated, and properly cared for, and at reasonable figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant,

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican [illegible] ment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered [illegible] men and planters should always have it on hand. [illegible] and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in [illegible] plate engravings, bearing U. S. Stamp of [illegible] & Co over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone-plate label. Look closely!

Lyon's Kathairon

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing

It eradicates scurf and dandruff

It keeps the head cool and clean.

It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy

It prevents hair turning gray and falling off.

It restores hair upon prematurely bald heads.

This is just what Lyon's Kathairon will do. It is pretty—it is cheap—durable. It is literally sold by the car load, and yet its almost incredible demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it

E. THOMAS LYON, Chemist, N. Y.

Lyon's Extract Ginger.

LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming [illegible] is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity make it a cheap and reliable article for culinary [illegible]. Sold everywhere at 50 cents per bottle. Ask for "LYON'S" Pure EXTRACT Take no other

CAUTION—See that the private U S Stamp of Demas Barnes & Co is over cork of each bottle. None other is genuine.
